NO TIME FOR TOO MANY RETREADS...

MOVING? Please use form inside paper and give full information. Mailing list is run on Friday for following week.

While you're away, the organization of the Reagan Administration which takes the steering wheel of the Ship of State some Jan. 20 there has to be some changes over the large numbers of former aides of President Ford and President Nixon, who are making news and sending up trial balloons in planning the Transition.

It is to be fervently hoped that Reagan will not over-load the apparatus with too many of these retirees from former Republican Administrations. If this turns out to be the case we can well find our country's business in about as big a wreck as was the Carter machine when it got loaded up with consumer advocates, no growth advocates, and would be public enemies of the Ralph Nader type who know they know what is best for us and, by golly, undertake to feed it to us.

Battle Lines Drawn Between American Bankers Assn., Farm Credit System on Proposed Amendments to Credit Act

One of the really thorny problems which will face incoming Reagan Administration forces and the new Congress next year will be the proposed amendments to the regulations concerning the Farm Credit System and the American Bankers Association. ABA spokesmen have mounted an attack on the amendments which would enable the Production Credit Associations, Federal Intermediate Credit Banks and some other financial institutions or OFI's largely smaller banks such as those members of the Independent Bankers Association of America to compete more vigorously with the larger banks for agricultural loans at rates that are usually two to three percentage points lower than most commercial banks can or do offer.

The row surfaced at the ABA meeting of National Agricultural Bankers Conference last week in Dallas, a forum at which the conflicting views received a greater airing than had recently been on public view. ABA spokesmen Executive Vice President

Fed Cattle Prices Lower at Most Markets Monday, Hogs Firm, Higher

At the central markets on Monday fed cattle prices were mixed, but mostly tending lower as the dressed beef trade opened under pressure. Slaughter cows were lower and hogs steady to lower. Hog prices were mainly steady in a trifle higher, however some points reported lower rates. Receipts of slaughter cattle were a little lower and hog receipts were up about 2,500 head. Estimated Monday cattle kill at 119,000 was 25,000 over last week and 4,000 a year ago. Monday's hog kill estimated at 303,000 was 55,000 over last week and 1,000 higher than a year earlier. Fed cattle prices were still depressed by overdone 4 & 5 grade cattle, which are represented in the low end of quotations. Price trends, quotations on choice and prime fed steers and heifers and the mixed good and choice grades and on good and choice Holsteins, and U.S. 1-3 hogs selling mostly 200 to 270 pounds included:

Willie W. Alexander accused the Farm Credit Administration of seeking to monopolize agricultural lending in their push to get congressional approval of the proposed 19 amendments. Alexander charged the amendments were aimed at "a nationwide quasi-governmental banking system offering all types of loans at below market rates not only to farmers but potentially to all classes and types of bank customers."

Some bankers have reported threats from Farm Credit System organizations, including some Production Credit Association, to encourage customers to withdraw money from accounts in banks which oppose the amendments. This charge was denied Farm Credit Administration and Federal Intermediate Credit Bank spokesmen. Jack Barton, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas stated he never heard "and I would have heard" of PCA or PCA members deposits being withdrawn from commercial banks over the issue. Speaking before more than 1000 agricultural bankers attending the ABA's National Agricultural Bank Conference, Alexander said that the bill H.R. 7548, to be brought before the "lame-duck" Congress, would "formally and finally create a nationwide banking unit exempt from any discipline of its monetary policy impact, exempt from most forms of taxation, exempt from the consumer protection and disclosure laws that we bankers live with."

Alexander identified Credit Agricole in France as the only other institution in the world like the Farm Credit System.

"Last year it had a tax-exempt income of $400 million... it dominates farm finance in France to the virtual exclusion of all other lenders. By the time Credit Agricole finally was granted deposit taking powers, most commercial bankers in France agreed that there was nothing that they could do to catch up with it," Alexander asserted.

"The Farm Credit System intends to become the American Credit Agricole," he charged. "This bill would let it begin taking deposits overseas... clearly a prelude to domestic deposit taking."

"An American Credit Agricole is something we cannot live with - a nationwide quasi-government banking system, offering all types of loans often at below-market rates not only to farmers but to all classes and types of bank customers."

The major amendments to the changes:

Reduction of minimum selling cost of a cooperative from 80 percent - 3 percent in the case of rural utility cooperatives - held by farmers, cooperative producers or harvesters or the cooperative eligible for loans from bank for cooperative.

Authorize banks for cooperative (BCs) to finance exports of agricultural and aquatic products by U.S. cooperatives that are borrowers from BCs. This section would provide BCs would not acquire greater power than commercial banks.

Authorize federal land banks (FLBs) and PCAs to make loans to finance basic processing and marketing directly related to farming, ranching or aquaculture operations. Such a loan would be made only if the applicant's operation applied at least 20 percent of the amount of commodity to be processed or marketed, meaning that other producers could add commodity to the operation, too. Hence, cooperatives could take advantage of this financing.

Authorize BCs to finance foreign domestic parties in transactions with cooperatives, to facilitate cooperative export-import operations. Export and import would be included in the financing capabilities. Processing could be financed if the end product was to be exported.

Authorize BCs to maintain credit balances for foreign customers.

Authorize BCs to participate in ownership of foreign companies to obtain credit information and other export-import services.

Authorize Federal Intermediate Credit Banks (FICBs), which already supply funds to PCAs and FLBs and banks through participations with PCAs, to open its loan services to smaller banks with major lending in agriculture. FICBs would have some broad discount privileges with FICBs restricted.

Exempt FICBs units from state usury laws. Most FICBs units already are exempt from state usury laws.

American farmers have boosted their corn production from 4.7 billion bushels in 1975 to 7.8 billion bushels in 1977. That's an increase of 65 percent in two years, according to Sperry New Holland.

13th Annual Bull Performance Test Now Underway

October 21 was the official starting date for the thirteenth annual bull performance test sponsored by the Noble Foundation. Seventy-eight registered and commercial bulls of various breeds and crosses were received October 1 and processed, after verification of strict entry requirements. The bulls will be maintained and ranked within these divisions throughout the 140-day test. Only the top two-thirds of the bulls in each division at the end of test will qualify for the sale on March 21, 1981.

All bulls were fed the same free-choice ration during the 21-day warm up period. The warm up allowed the bulls to adjust to the ration and the change in environment. Early in the feeding period the ration will be changed gradually until a 25:1 concentrate to roughage ratio is attained. The ration will continue to be fed free-choice throughout the test.

At 28-day intervals the bulls will be weighed individually. Beginning with the second weigh period (56-day, December 18, 1980), progress reports will be compiled and made available to consignors and other interested parties.

Ten of the 24 Texas and Oklahoma ranches represented at this years test are consigning bulls for their first time at the test. The 24 senior and 54 junior bulls include Angus, Brangus, Charolais, Gelbvieh, Limousin, Polled Hereford, Simmental, Simbrah, and Chianina x Angus (F1).

The Noble Foundation invites all inquiries about the bull performance test. For information, contact Wynne Dobbs, Test Manager, Agricultural Division, Noble Foundation, Route 1, Ardmore, OK 73401.

U.S. milk production totaled 123.6 billion pounds in 1979. This is the highest national total since 1965, says the USDA.

National Pinzgauer Sale Dates Set

Wharton, Texas — The Southwestern Pinzgauer Association has made final arrangements with John Joyce, World Sales, to manage three upcoming National Pinzgauer Sales. The first sale is the National Sale to be held in Denver, Colorado on January 23, 1981 during the Nation Western Show. The second sale will be the National Pinzgauer sale held in Shreveport, La. on Feb. 8, 1981 during the Louisiana State Fair and the third sale is the National Pinzgauer Sale held in Houston, Texas on February 27, 1981 during the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Nominations for these three sales will be mailed to prospective consignors by October 15, 1980. Consignments will be selected by a screening committee and only animals of the highest quality will be accepted.

For further information regarding these three sales you can contact: Gary Arnold (Rt. 1 Box 128, Joffarson, Texas), W. J. Sparks, III (Box 2063, Victoria, Texas) or John Joyce, World Sales (Rt. 2 Box 282, Wharton, Texas 77488) or you can call AC 713/657-2212.

"This sale should provide some interesting information on Pinzgauers and how they compare with other steers in the area of rate of gain, feed conversion and cost of gain, grade and yield, and the bottom line — their profitability," Kelley said.

Shorthorns to Sell Saturday at Cushing

The First Annual "Sonar Shorthorn Selection" will be held Saturday, November 22, 1980 at the Agri-Civic Center in Cushing, Oklahoma. Show and parade of cattle will commence at 9:00 a.m. with Marshall Stauffer of Madison, Kansas, serving as show judge. Auction of the cattle is scheduled to begin at 12:30 p.m.

Featured will be an outstanding selection of Beef Shorthorn cattle from leading breeders in Oklahoma and Kansas. Consignments include cow-calf pairs, serviceable bulls and show heifer prospects. A number of excellent show steer prospects will also be offered from these renowned Shorthorn herds.

Semen from outstanding Shorthorn bulls will be sold, with proceeds to go to the Oklahoma Junior Shorthorn Association.

A banquet and full meeting of the Oklahoma Shorthorn Association will be held at Steer Inn in Cushing at 7 o'clock on Friday evening, November 21. Sale headquarters will be the Wilshire Inn in Cushing, ph. 918-225-1900.

Catalogs are available on request from Kohos Cattle Services, sale management, Rt. 1, Choyenne, OK 73626 ph. 405-928-2795.

Nesselth Inc. has developed a new line of liquid manure spreaders that are equipped with a chopper-impeller type pump for handling manure with solids or long-cut bedding. Available in 8 sizes, the Super-Mix Tank-R has been designed and engineered with a forward pitch that maintains an even drawbar weight and provides greater traction during the entire unloading operation.

The Super-Mix Tank-R line includes many exclusive features. Free Brochure on Reduced Dosage of Strain 19 Vaccine

Austin — A Brochure explaining details of the reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine for brucellosis control is now available from the Texas Animal Health Commission. Dr. John Holcombe, executive director, T.A.H.C., said response to the first announcement of the reduced dosage has been "ex-tremely favorable." The reduced dose is a victory for the entire Texas livestock industry in its efforts to control brucellosis, Dr. Holcombe said.

Strain 19 vaccine has been used in the program for years. But the oil strength of Strain 19 was blamed for causing some animals to be diagnosed as having the disease when, in fact, it was a reaction of the vaccine itself. The reduced dose is as effective as the stronger dose. "The reduced dose will help eliminate confusion over the ques-tion of whether an animal has field strain brucellosis infection or whether the reaction is due to the vaccine," Dr. Holcombe said.

The reduced dose has also brought a change in vaccination ages; they are now set at 4 to 12 months for all breeds. "Being able to vaccinate animals at 12 months of age will much less likely about false reaction to blood tests," Dr. Holcombe said.

The vaccine is free. Livestock owners should contact their veterinarians or T.A.H.C. offices in the area for complete details.

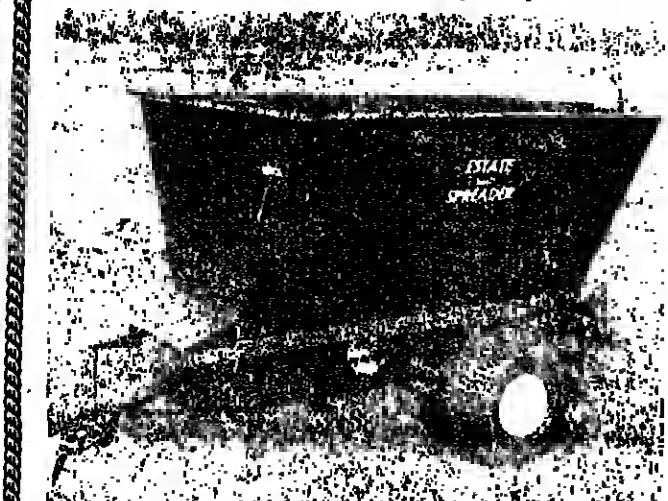

One of the goals of the T.A.H.C. is to raise the immunity level in cattle that 70 percent of the adult herd population will have been vaccinated. This is the level judged by experts as significantly reduce the disease.

The brochure titled "Free Brochure on Reduced Dosage of Strain 19 Vaccine" is available by contacting the Texas Animal Health Commission, Box 12900, Austin, TX 78711. Copies will also be available at area T.A.H.C. offices and county agents' offices as well as county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices.

USDA Approves A New Vaccine Against Calf Scours — Vicogen™

Kansas City, Mo. — A new vaccine against bacterial calf scours, caused by E. coli, has received approval from the USDA. The announcement that the new vaccine, Vicogen™, will now be available in the U.S. was made October 1.

Vicogen is the first product for the new U.S. company, Connaught Animal Health, Inc., explained that the introduction of Vicogen was the culmination of a long effort by many people in research laboratories and in clinical research. "Connaught had been pri-privileged to work with the Veterinary In-fectious Diseases Organization (VIDO) in Saskatoon, Canada, in the development and the marketing of Vicogen."

The production of Vicogen is described by Don P. Metzger, Ph.D., Vice President of Operations at the Con-naught Laboratories, Swiftwater, Pa., as "a rather straight forward bacterial fermentation process. It goes through fourteen production steps." Dr. Metzger pointed out that the production of Vicogen is at present Connaught's top priority in order to provide a significant quantity of vaccine for the 1980/81 calving season.

Gordon Boylan, D.V.M., Director of Technical Services, Animal Health Division, Connaught Laboratories, Ltd., Canada, tells the method by which the vaccine is used. "The vaccine is given, not to the calf, but to the pregnant cow. The dam develops antibodies in her bloodstream and these antibodies are concentrated from her blood into the first milk (colostrum). When the colostrum is ingested by the newborn calf, the K99 antibodies provide protection to it through those critical first few days of life." Dr. Boylan emphasized that calf scours "can be severe in spite of treatment which is often expensive and ineffective. Prevention is, therefore, a more intelligent approach to the problem." For more details and research results, write to: Mr. Earl Tolva, Connaught Animal Health, Inc., Box 13923, Lenexa, Kansas 66215.

"ENERGETICS" — Efficiency For Today's Corn Production

The entire country is feeling the squeeze of inflation and rising energy costs but none as keenly as the American farmer. Because he is as dependent on energy, he must be very cautious with it in order to survive in the 80's.

Northrup King has developed the ENERGETICS™ program. It's designed to provide the corn grower with the hybrids and the management guidelines for maximum energy efficiency in his corn operation. Jim Hurst, Corn Product Manager for Northrup King, explains further: "We feel farmers in the 80's need to be more aware of energy costs and our job as seedsmen is to help them become more energy efficient."

The thrust of the ENERGETICS Program is towards developing hybrids that are more energy efficient for the 80's. At NK we've stepped up our research efforts in the area of fast dry down, early planting, cold tolerance/early vigor and minimum tillage. We are alerting growers to the long term nature of the energy problem and helping them develop good, energy efficient practices."

A free 18 page handbook is available explaining the ENERGETICS Program plus helpful charts, formulas and tips for profitable harvesting. Corn growers wishing to get the book should call, TOLL FREE, 1-800-825-2495, or contact Northrup King, P.O. Box 959, Minneapolis, MN 55440.

Massey-Ferguson Offers New 30 Ft. Pickup Reel

Massey-Ferguson announces the availability of the "U-11" pickup reel in a 30 ft. width. The reel also is available in widths from 13 to 24 ft.

The lightweight "U-11" reel incorporates an anti-wrapping flipover action with an open, "see-through" design. Aluminum tubing is used for major components, with 1-in. square tubing for reel spiders and rectangular tubing for reel bats.

The high-strength reel is designed for increased compatibility with the reel lift and hydraulic systems. A rigid 9 in. steel center tube prevents center sag.

Since the reel bat is of one-piece construction, bearings on the ends of the reel spiders do not make a full 360-degree circle. Instead, the bat oscillates back and forth during each turn of the reel. This reduces wrapping on the reel bat ends and at the spider/bat joints. Reel and shields are standard equipment and further reduce any tendency to wrap.

The open "see-through" design of the reel, coupled with the flipover action of the bats, allows the combine operator to see the entire cutterbar and avoid field obstructions. The reel's construction also facilitates cutting next to levees, fence posts, and brush.

The sturdy "U-11" pickup reel contains fewer working parts than other reels and is quicker, easier and cheaper in assembly and repair, MF says.

New Hose Reel For Stock Enclosures

A unique concept in loose coil hose reels, particularly appropriate for use in horse stables and dairy barns, and other stock enclosures, is now available from The Zierden Company of Oak Creek, Wisconsin.

The container mounts on a wall and keeps hose stored neatly without clutter or kinking, yet the hose is connected and instantly accessible for use at all times. This makes for safer conditions because tangled hose is never undisturbed. The hose is fed through the top of the revolving container and rolls neatly around the center spindle. Installation is simple, accommodating both hot and cold water supplies.

MF Brochure Describes Four-Wheel-Drive Tractors

Maxey Ferguson's four high-horsepower four-wheel-drive tractors — the MF4900, MF4880, MF4860 and MF4840 — are described in a new 16-page brochure.

The newly introduced 375-horsepower MF4900 features a 90-cubic-inch turbocharged Cummins engine. The 320-hp MF4880 also offers a Cummins turbocharged engine, the 265-hp MF4860 is equipped with the same Cummins engine in a naturally aspirated version, and the MF4840's engine, also a Cummins, provides 225-horsepower.

An electronically controlled three-point hitch is available on all four tractors. This hitch automatically adjusts to soil conditions, faster and more accurately than mechanically controlled hitches to provide positive position control, full draft control or a combination of the two. No other four-wheel-drive tractor sold in North America offers this option.

A fully independent 1,000-rpm PTO is available on all four models. Constant-mesh, pressure-lubricated 18-speed transmissions with three-speed shift-on-the-go are standard.

Native who beat drums to ward off evil spirits are objects of scorn to smart American motorists who blow horns to break up traffic jams.

Copies of the brochure are available from MF dealers.

New Container Fits Needs of Grower, Dealer, Custom Applicator

Growers, dealers and custom applicators will have Dual herbicide in a new 90-gallon plastic container this spring. The container, made of high-density polyethylene for extra toughness, will be available everywhere Dual is sold.

The container was tested in Ohio last spring. Ciba-Geigy, manufacturer of the herbicide, says the plastic drum saves time, is easier to handle than larger steel drums, and less of a disposal problem than smaller cans and jugs.

Dick Reynolds, the chemical company's packaging/application development group leader, says the containers won't rust, scratch or dent. "The drum is light enough 118 pounds for someone to carry one in each hand," he explains. "We envision that the polyethylene containers will someday replace the steel drum for agricultural chemicals because of its lightness and durability."

A forklift can carry two 30-gallon containers at a time by simply engaging the forklift tines through the top handle. Or, the two totes can be pushed together at the bottom to handle one plastic drum. A dolly also conveniently moves the container.

Growers can dispose of the containers by burning. Dual, used for weed

Beat Drought Fallout, High Winter Feed Costs By Worming Cattle Now

The effects of this year's drought make it particularly important for cattlemen to worm their cow-calf herds this fall in order to save money in feed costs this winter, say Extension and industry experts.

"The drought that has hit a large area this year will significantly reduce the quality of available pasture, so cattlemen may have to rely more heavily on expensive supplemental feed," says Dr. B. L. Moseley, Extension veterinarian at the University of Missouri. "And because internal parasite retards digestion, it will be more important to clean them out so cattle can use available feed more efficiently."

Dr. Moseley adds that the entire herd, both calves and cows, will benefit from treatment.

"A worm load adversely affects the growth of younger cattle," he says. "And calves are more likely to be infected in the fall than at any other time of year because they have been on pasture most the summer."

On-going research begun in 1976 by the University of Tennessee confirms the benefit of worming. In one group of field trials, 88 suckling calves treated with thiabendazole (TBZ) paste each gained an average 14 pounds more than untreated calves over a 105-day period. "For cows, fall is probably the best time to worm because you can clean out internal parasites before calving," says Dr. Robert Miller, senior technical advisor for M&B ACVET, a division of Murex & Co., Inc., and manufacturers of TBZ.

"Typically, the cow must make it through the stress of winter to calve, come into estrus, and then wean a heavy calf."

Dr. David Badell, Extension veterinarian at the Georgia Rural Experiment Station, recommends worming each time cattle are moved or worked for health programs.

"Cattleman dehorn, castrate and vaccinate calves in the fall, and cows are often pregnancy checked. As long as the animals are in the chute, you can save labor if you worm them at that time," he says. "And here in the Southeast, herds will be moved to winter pastures soon. Treating them for internal parasites before they move will help keep the new pastures clean."

"Cattlemen should consult their veterinarian to determine the level of parasitism in their herds," notes Missouri's Dr. Moseley.

The Texas Polled Hereford Association State Show in Brenham Nov. 7 and 8 was a huge success in terms of the good turnout and the good cattle on display. The T. S. The champion heifer calf was shown by Shawn Cross and the reserve champion heifer calf by G. Tufts & Sons. The junior champion heifer was an entry by Jim & Moe Harrison and Quail Run Ranch, and the senior reserve champion another Tufts entry, G. New Site For Texas Polled Hereford Bull Test

With the delivery of 50 Polled Hereford bulls to the Central Bull Test at Amarillo, Texas, the nation's oldest bull test is back in operation. The Pan-Tech all-bred bull test was begun in 1961, but was discontinued in 1977. This year, the Texas Polled Hereford Association needed a bull test facility and Texas Tech University agreed to re-open the Amarillo station.
The Texas PHA formerly used Howard Payne University's bull test facilities in Brownwood, but began looking for another place when the university phased out its agriculture department.
Welghed on last October 27-28, the bulls will complete the 140-day gain test March 14-15. The performance-tested Polled Hereford bulls will be consigned to a Texas PHA sale following the completion of the test.

Dear Mr. Gouldy:
Thank you for the results of the poll of your readers.

It certainly appears that there were far more accurate than any of the national polls, including A.P. Harris, etc., all of whom were insisting up to the last minute that the election was too close to call.

Congratulations!

Dear Mr. Gouldy:
I wanted to thank you for sending me the results of your recent poll. As Mississippi State Chairman of the Reagan for President campaign, I was delighted with the results of the Presidential preference portion of your survey.

As a Member of Congress for eight years, I was also interested in the results of question #9 regarding higher farm price supports and question #18 regarding wage and price controls. These views of your readers should be highly informative to all Members of Congress and Senators.

Thank you again. If I may be of assistance to you at any time, please do not hesitate to call on me. With best wishes, I am

During this period of Congressional adjournment, Mr. Rousset is working out of his District Office in Arcadia. He has asked that I reply to your letter of October 29th in order to avoid any delay. The Congressman appreciates the poll tabulation.

The Preference Poll results will be helpful to the Congressman as each of these issues is presented either in committee or on the floor of the full House. The majority of the American people let their views be known on November 4th and I know that Mr. Rousset looks forward to the 97th Congress with great optimism.
